

Rachael Heath has filed suit against the Modern Woodmen of America for $1,000. Her husband, Frank Heath, was a member of the order and carried a policy for $1,000 from December 2, 1902, until the date of his death, June 26, 1903. Heath was either killed accidentally or committed suicide in a corn crib on his farm near Towanda. The company holds that he killed himself and refuses to pay the policy.
