

The friends appointed to attend the marriage of Thomas Littler and Mary Ridgway reported that they attended, and it was orderly accomplished.

The friends appointed to visit Richard Lupton reported, that they have visited him, and he appeared tender and sensible of his error, and was desirous of making satisfaction; his case is continued under the care of the same committee, with the addition of Edward Walker and Abraham Bronson to it, who are to report to next meeting.

The Clerk informed that the time for which he had been appointed to serve the meeting had expired; William Joliffe, Aaron Hibberd, Stephen Taylor, Nathan Hoines, and Joshua Lupton are appointed to propose a friend for that service to next meeting; also to propose a friend for an assistant; the assistant clerk having informed that the term of his appointment had expired.

Levi Smith informed the meeting that he wished to be released from serving the meeting as an overseer of the poor; Robert Coburn, Levi Smith and John Bond were appointed to propose to next meeting a friend for that service.

The friends appointed to visit Mark Thatcher reported they visited him, and are free that his request be granted, with which the meeting concurs, and he is received into membership.

The committee in the case of John Rogers reported that they had not yet had an opportunity with him; they are continued, and Stephen Taylor is added to the committee.