

It is with profound sorrow that we chronicle the death of our dear young friend, Leo Shepherd, the sixteen year old son of Theo. Shepherd. Leo was sick only six days with the inflammation of the bowels. He was the youngest son, therefore the darling of his mother's heart. He confessed his Saviour and was baptized last October; and it was joy in the midst of our grief to hear that dear voice telling us that he had no fear of the dark river that rolled so near him and his hope was bright and death had no terror for him; that he was relying on the promise of Christ who had prom-
